INSEAD invites applications for full-time, tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in the Accounting & Control Area, to begin fall 2017. We are recruiting at all levels. We will consider applications for either our Fontainebleau and Singapore campuses.

QUALIFICATIONS:
We are seeking individuals with high levels of achievement and/or outstanding promise in research and teaching.

Applications are welcome from candidates who possess a PhD in accounting or related fields. We encourage both rookies as well as experienced professors to apply. For rookies, we will attend the Miami conference in December and the EAA conference in November, and conduct our first round of interviews at that time. Interested candidates should apply via the conference websites.

CAREER:
Full-time faculty positions are either tenured or tenure track. Decisions about incoming status and promotion are based on performance, principally in research and teaching. INSEAD salaries are competitive with those at the top US schools; research support and annual teaching loads are comparable.

ACCOUNTING AT INSEAD:
INSEAD is recognised as one of the world's leading business schools. This includes recognition as the #1 MBA programme in the world by the Financial Times in its most recent 2016 ranking. The school has two primary campus locations: one in the royal forest of Fontainebleau, which is less than an hour from Paris, the other in the metropolitan capital of Singapore. There is also a campus in Abu Dhabi that allows for research and teaching opportunities. The school attracts participants from over 75 countries to its MBA, EMBA, executive, and PhD programmes. The Accounting & Control faculty teach in all of these programmes, as well as offering our own PhD.

The research interests of faculty can be consulted on our website. Shared research interests and methods with existing faculty are viewed very positively.
