HRG co-organizes the Health and Humanitarian Logistics conference 2019
By the INSEAD Humanitarian Research Group

The Health and Humanitarian Logistics Conference (HHL) brings together 200+ representatives from government, NGOs, foundations, private industry, and academia active in the health and humanitarian sectors from around the world. The event is chaired annually by the Georgia Tech Center for Health & Humanitarian Systems (CHHS), NC State, INSEAD Humanitarian Research Group, MIT Humanitarian Response Lab, and Northeastern University. This year’s conference is pleased to have The International Association of Public Health Logisticians (IAPHL) and People that Deliver as Co-organizers, and University of Rwanda Regional Center for Excellence as our Host.

- Location: Kigali, Rwanda
- Date: July, 10-11 2019
- Daily Time: 9 AM to 5:30 PM
- Venue: Marriott Kigali Hotel

HHL provides an open forum to discuss challenges and new solutions in global health delivery, disaster preparedness and response, and long-term development. This year’s theme is Road to Resilience: Sustainably Meeting Health, Humanitarian, and Development Needs.
